Doing Good in the World

By Limuel S. Celebria

A little more than a hundreds years ago, the Rotary was founded with the simple objective of simple fellowship - a gathering of people, or professionals with diverse backgrounds, for the purpose of exchanging ideas, forming meaningful friendships, and giving back to our communities.

Very early on, however, as the organization grew beyond the bounds of its country of origin, that plain, unassuming goal of simply "giving back" had taken on a loftier, nobler, more encompassing nature - to do good in the world,. The term community has taken on a global, rather than local, scale.

In time, Rotary's simple objectives, or what could be described as the organization's philosophical cornerstones, have continued to evolve with changing global milieus and concerns. From the original Four Avenues of Service (Club Services, Community Services, International Services, and Vocational Services) which have served as the framework of club projects and activities, we now have the current Six Areas of Focus (Promote Peace, Fight Disease, Provide clean water, sanitation, and hygiene, Promote Maternal Health and Child Care. Support Basic Education and Literacy, Promote Economic Community and Development.) The objectives have become more encompassing but with greater clarity of purpose.

The challenges are enormous and daunting when viewed from a local perspective. After all, what can one man or one club or one district, or an entire nation, for that matter, do to turn the world into a better place?

One might reply by saying that Rotary International, as an organization strengthened by the collective will of its members worldwide, has done much to make the world a better place. We are this close (99.9%), for example, to eliminating the polio disease which, at its height, killed and maimed millions of children all over the world. In other areas, RI has done much to alleviate conflict, provide health services, safe drinking water, bring books and deliver badly needed medical services to areas where none are available.

On the other hand, from another perspective, one might say that as Rotarians, we are not being asked to change the world. We are being asked, as individuals, to do good in the world. And perhaps, in doing so, we will collectively make a better world.

Our club's founding father, a very prescient Paul Harris, may actually have seen the future of Rotary farther than anyone could have imagined in his time. He said, "Whatever Rotary may mean to us, to the world it will be known by the results it achieves."

NOVEMBER 2016

Looking back at the momentous 1917 Rotary Convention in Atlanta, it is difficult to see what could have been contentious about the words of then-President Arch C. Klumph: "It seems eminently proper that we should accept endowments for the purpose of doing good in the world." Yet, at the time, support for the idea was far from unanimous. Some thought an endowment fund would create more trouble than it was worth. But Klumph's idea received the support it most needed in the form of an initial donation of $26.50 from the Rotary Club of Kansas City, Mo.

Nearly 100 years later, we recognize Klumph's idea as not only visionary, but revolutionary: It set in place the mechanism that allowed Rotary to become the vast force for "doing good in the world" that it is today.

In many ways, our Rotary Foundation is the foundation of Rotary as we know it. It has created a mechanism for cooperation and partnership among clubs and between Rotary and other organizations; it has enabled us to be ever more ambitious in our work and to reach for goals of historic proportions, such as the eradication of polio. It is impossible to quantify the good that has been done over the last century as a result of The Rotary Foundation. All we can know for sure is that Arch Klumph, if he could see it, would be proud.

I am looking forward to seeing many of you at our international convention in Atlanta: the city where our Foundation was born. I hope a record number of Rotarians will be there to celebrate the centennial of our Foundation. In the meantime, there are plenty of other ways to celebrate! I encourage you to read more about the Foundation centennial at centennial.rotary.org. There, you'll learn about the history of our Foundation and find ideas for events and projects in your clubs and your community.

One of the most important ways we are celebrating the Foundation centennial is with a fundraising goal of $300 million. Your gift to your Foundation is the best way of ensuring a strong second century for Rotarians Doing Good in the World and for Rotary Serving Humanity.

100 Years of Giving

Last July, at a convention in Seoul, South Korea, Rotary International began what would be the year-long celebration of the centennial anniversary of The Rotary Foundation. The celebrations will culminate in June 2017 in Atlanta, Georgia – where it all began – to commemorate TRF's 100 years of Serving Humanity.

In 1917, RI Pres. Arch Klumph established The Rotary Foundation with the purpose of “doing good in the world” and an initial endowment fund of only US$ 26.50. Today, 100 years later, the Foundation has spent some $3 billion on life-changing, sustainable projects in an effort to make lives better in countless communities throughout the world.

It is safe to say, perhaps, that no single club in the world has had as much impact in helping overcome humanity's need and facing it challenges. And this is largely due to efforts and projects of TRF. “The Rotary Foundation is the most visible expression of Rotarian generosity – a generosity that not only brings benefits but also brings help and cooperation to solve the problems that affect mankind,” said Paulo V. Costa, 1995-96 Rotary Foundation Trustee Chair.

As we all know, the TRF is funded by the contributions of Rotarians all over the world. No matter how big or small, our donations have, collectively, transformed the TRF into a powerful force for good supporting sustainable service projects “to provide clean water, fight disease, promote peace, provide basic education, and grow local economies.” Rotary's fight to eradicate polio worldwide is almost done at 99.9%.

Rotary is founded on service to others and giving is one of its virtues. As the year-long, world-wide celebration of this 100-year journey for the good of humanity continues, let us ask ourselves: Have we done something good for mankind today? Have I given of myself for the benefit of others? Have I given enough? What is enough?

As former British Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill said: “We make a living by what we get. We make a life by what we give.”

The celebration in Seoul last July was envisioned to kick-off a continuing celebration of the historic milestone by our clubs around the world: Celebrations that will generate among Rotarians a sense of pride and a continuing commitment to the goals of the organization; Activities that are also intended to make sure that other people in every community know about the vital work of Rotary and its Foundation.

Has your club become a part of this wondrous rite of passage? Have our clubs celebrated TRF's 100th birthday? If not, there is still time to do so and there are many ways by which to do it. I trust that our All-Star Team has that creativity and enthusiasm to respond resoundingly to this call.

The TRF has set a target of raising US$ 300 million this year to kickstart its journey towards the next 100 years of continuing service to humanity. So far, over US$ 170 million have been raised. But clearly there is still a long way to go. Have we already contributed to this effort?

Past RI President and 2016-2017 Trustee Chair Kalyan Bannerjee said, “Now is the time to enable our Foundation to serve humanity for centuries to come, by making sure it is financially strong and remains recognized internationally for its good work.”

JOHN F. GERM

PRESIDENT 2016-17
ROTARY CLUB OF CHATTANOOGA
TENNESSEE, USA

DECEMBER 2016

I joined Rotary as an engineer. There are almost as many classifications in the profession of engineering as there are in Rotary, but I happen to be a mechanical engineer. A mechanical engineer calculates the heating and cooling loads for a new building, makes sure the right lights are in the right places, and plans the plumbing so your hot water pipe doesn't end in a drinking fountain.

Mechanical engineers don't stand out in a crowd, and they don't call attention to themselves with what they do. You probably haven't thought much about the engineers who designed the buildings you use, the car you drive, or the traffic patterns you follow. But every time you get in an elevator, turn the key in your ignition, or cross the street when the light says go, you are entrusting your life to an engineer somewhere whom you've never met. You trust that your elevator will open at the floor you want it to. You trust that your car will start and stop as it should. You trust that the traffic light is going to turn red before the walk light goes on. Every day, you put your life in the hands of people whose names you do not know and whom you might never meet. You might not think about them at all – but they touch your lives every day.

I could draw the same parallel to any number of other vocations – ordinary occupations with the same kind of life-changing impact. In so many ways – some of which we see and some we don't – our vocations allow us to help other people live better, safer, and healthier lives.

Just like the work we do in Rotary.

Through our vocations and in our clubs, in our communities, and across continents, we are touching the lives of people we don't know and might never meet. And in every part of the world, every single day, whether they know it or not, people are living better, safer, and healthier lives because of the work of Rotary.

The people we help might not have met a single Rotarian. They might not even know that Rotary exists. But they are drinking clean water from a bore well that Rotary dug. They're learning to read with books that Rotary gave them. They're living lives that are better, happier, and healthier – because of Rotary Serving Humanity.

RI's 100-year war: The joy in doing good for others

Over the past 100 years, Rotary International has been quietly waging war against mankind's greatest challenges - sickness, ignorance, deprivation, enmity. RI has built schools, hospitals, water systems and numerous other infrastructure to improve living conditions in countless communities across the globe. Along with teachers, doctors, engineers and other professionals who have volunteered their services, RI has brought food, medicines, drinking water, books, and other necessities to the remotest corners of the world in a tireless effort to serve humanity.

Most these programs and activities came with support from The Rotary Foundation (TRF) which has raised and spent around US$ 3 billion for the simple purpose of doing good for others. It's a truly extraordinary feat. Perhaps no other organization has done as much for as long a time to benefit the people of the world.

Remarkably, the TRF had a rather shaky, inauspicious beginning. In 1917, at the RI Convention in Atlanta, Georgia, Pres. Arch Klumph broached the idea of raising funds for the purpose of "doing good in the world." Although many expressed doubts and misgivings, the fund was pushed through with an initial endowment of US$ 26.50 from the Rotary Club of Kansas City. It was only 11 years later that The Rotary Foundation will be so formally named during the 1928 RI Convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Two years later, the TRF awarded a US$ 500 grant to the International Society for Crippled Children.

Despite the slow start, the TRF has accomplished much, funding innumerable efforts by Rotarians around the world to alleviate suffering, bring joy and kindness to their neighbors. Through TRF Global Grants, Rotary has waged peace, bridged cultural divides, battled ignorance and illiteracy, provided water and sanitation, medical services, and numerous other projects to benefit mankind.

On this issue, as RI observes Disease Prevention and Treatment month, we showcase on our GML cover some of the TRF funded projects in the district that coincide with the current theme.

1) Operating under the banner "Mending Faces, One Child at A Time," the Rotary Clubs of Metro Kalibo and Roxas, in partnership with Uplift Internationale (Denver, Colorado), have put up mobile clinics to provide free operations for children with Cleft Lip and Palate.

Dubbed the Rotary Operation Taghoy (Mobile) Clinic, it began in Kalibo during the term of PP Ricky Molo (RY 2013-2014) and is carried on by Pres Rey Lebaquin, Sr. The mission is composed of local Aklanon Doctor Volunteers together with Rotarian hosts available to assist the operation and surgical mission. Operation Taghoy Executive Director for the Philippines PE Megs Lunn (RC Roxas) initiated the clinic and put the team together. It is now operational in Manila, Aklan and Negros.

2) Gov. Ronnie with two cleft lip children, beneficiaries of a child-care mission in Zamboanga. The Community of Hope Special Education Center Inc. is a ministry administered by the missionary sisters of St. Columban in the Archdiocese of Ozamiz City for the blind, deaf, non-verbal, slow learners, and the developmentally challenged, like children and youngsters with autism and cerebral palsy, Down Syndrome, and other physical problems.

TRF has approved a Global Grant Project of RC Ozamiz North - "Specialized Education, Capacity Building and Skills Training for the Community of Hope". Among other objectives, the project seeks to: enhance existing facilities of the center; provide different training and seminars on capability building, personality development, values and spiritual formation, and on leadership skills to youngsters with disability and "We should not live for ourselves alone, but for the joy in doing good for others."

ARCH KLUMPH

Founder of The Rotary Foundation

their families in order to equip them reclaim their equal rights in the society; and facilitate sustainable livelihood skills training to people with disability and their families so that their living conditions be improved and become productive members in the society;

3) Barangay Tugas and Sitio Hagachac, in Kalibo, Aklan are two coastal villages that do not have potable water supply. The residents rely on water from shallow wells for washing and other daily needs. For drinking water, as well as for cooking, the community has to buy from commercial suppliers.

These villages are surrounded by fishponds and the waters in the wells are usually murky and dried-up during summer. Hygiene and water-borne diseases are always a problem for most of the indigent families who earn a living solely as caretakers of the fish ponds owned by operators from other places.

Hopefully, the Global Grant to RC Kalibo to Supply Piped Water with Facilities through the local school will also be a boon to the community itself.

DISEASE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT

Rotary supports activities and training that reduce the cause and effect of disease.

Area of Focus Statement of Purpose and Goals

TRF enables Rotarians to prevent disease and promote health by:

1. Improving the capacity of local health care professionals;
2. Promoting disease prevention programs, with the goal of limiting the spread of communicable diseases and reducing the incidences of and complications from non-communicable diseases;
3. Enhancing the health infrastructure of local communities;
4. Educating and mobilizing communities to help prevent the spread of major diseases;
5. Preventing physical disability resulting from disease or injury;
6. Supporting studies for career-minded professionals related to disease prevention and treatment.

Parameters for Eligibility

TRF considers activities targeting the following to be within the scope of the disease prevention and treatment area of focus:

1. Prevention and Control of Communicable Diseases

- a. Testing with counseling and referrals/admission to treatment;
- b. Education on preventing transmission of disease and supplies that may assist with these prevention efforts;
- c. Providing mobile technology equipment and vehicles to monitor and treat patients;
- d. Equipment supported by the local health infrastructure that includes appropriate operational and maintenance plans;
- e. Provision of prevention programs, such as vaccinations, male circumcision or pre-exposure prophylaxis;
- f. Providing technical platform and training in its operation for the tracking and monitoring of disease diagnosis and treatment;
- g. Treatment of communicable diseases that includes a component to prevent disease, improve training of health service professionals, or provide public health education to improve the long-term health of a community.

2. Mosquito-Borne Illnesses and Illnesses Transmitted by Other Vectors (Organisms That Transmit Pathogens)

- a. Providing bednets and preventative medications;
- b. Providing supplies that help with safe storage of standing water and training on interrupting the lifecycle of mosquitoes;
- c. Developing drainage systems to prevent and control diseases;
- d. Providing for removal of vectors other than mosquitoes.

3. Prevention and Control of Noncommunicable Diseases

- a. Providing materials and training to prevent physical disability due to disease or injury;
- b. Community education, intervention programs, and early screening programs with the goal of reducing the incidence and prevalence of chronic diseases;
- c. Providing mobile technology equipment and vehicles to monitor and treat patients;
- d. Equipment supported by the local health infrastructure that includes appropriate operational and maintenance plans;
- e. Lifesaving surgeries and surgeries to address congenital problems provided they are supported by the local health infrastructure and include appropriate follow-up care;
- f. Treatment of noncommunicable diseases that includes a component to prevent disease, improve training of health service professionals, or provide public health education to improve the long-term health of a community.

4. Other Activities

- a. Scholarships for graduate-level study in programs related to disease prevention and treatment;
- b. Vocational training teams that focus on educational components related to activities outlined above.

TRF considers activities targeting the following to be outside the scope of the disease prevention and treatment area of focus and as such are not eligible for global grant funding:

1. Projects that consist exclusively of an equipment purchase, unless supported by the local health infrastructure that includes appropriate operational and maintenance plans;
2. Medical missions/surgical team trips that do not provide educational outreach programs or significant capacity building in the project country.

Elements of Successful Humanitarian Projects and Vocational Training Teams

Global grants are:

1. Sustainable - communities are able to address their disease prevention and treatment needs after the Rotary club/district has completed its work;
2. Measurable - sponsors can select standard measures for their area of focus from the Monitoring and Evaluation Toolkit or use their own measures to show the good results of their work;
3. Community driven - designed by the host community based upon the needs they have identified;
4. Aligned with an area of focus - as defined in the policy documents.

Elements of Successful Scholarships

Global grants support graduate-level scholarships for career-minded professionals. TRF considers the following when evaluating global grant scholarship applications:

1. The applicant's previous work experience in the field of disease prevention and treatment;
2. Academic program alignment with disease prevention and treatment. Examples of academic programs include public health, advanced degrees in nursing and medicine;
3. The applicant's career plans as they relate to disease prevention and treatment.
